

Airplane Falls in Adams County; Report Two Dead

Two men are reported to have been killed in an airplane crash near Lightner's store, Mt. Hope, above Fairfield.

The plane is said to have crashed on a wooded slope of the outh Mountains, the victims being caught in the wreckage.

The names of the fliers could not be learned, and neither was information available as to whether the plane was a government machine or a privately-owned craft.

Dr. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, was called to the scene of the accident, as also Dr. E. A. Miller, Adams county coroner, by residents in the vicinity of Lightner's store.

Efforts to reach residents of the neighborhood by telephone were futile some time after the crash, which is said to have occurred at 2:30 o'clock, this afternoon.

News of the accident was received here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and Dr. Miller left at once for the scene.

Word of the disaster spread like wildfire through Fairfield, Virginia Mills, Orrtanna and vicinity, and hundreds of residents were reported flocking into the mountains to view the wrecked machine.

Later word was to the effect that the plane fell about six miles from Lightner's store, near the mountain home of Louis Smith.

First word of the crash to reach Gettysburg came to The Gettysburg Times by telephone, and this newspaper was asked to notify the coroner. Doctor Miller left immediately for the scene, accompanied by a Times reporter.

ATTORNEY FAILS TO APPEAR BUT CASE CONTINUES

Trial of the charges against Paul Ginter was scheduled as the first case in the regular quarterly November term of quarter sessions this afternoon. Court was convened at 10:30 o'clock this morning, with Judge D. P. McPherson presiding.

Ginter was indicted by the grand jury this morning on two counts of illegal possession and two of illegal sale of intoxicating liquor.

When the defendant was called before the court, after a panel of jurors had been called, Ginter told Judge McPherson that he had employed A. W. Rochow, of York, as his attorney, but that neither the attorney nor a Harvey Good, a witness, was in court. Judge McPherson said he could see no reason why trial of the case should not proceed, and named William Hersh as the man's counsel until Mr. Rochow should arrive.

Other true bills returned before 2 o'clock this afternoon were that against A. D. alias "Chick" Lawrence, charged with a statutory offense.

Puzzled As To Plea
The court made an effort to have this case tried, and Lawrence was called, but failed to respond. Court then directed that bail in Lawrence's case be forfeited. Gregory Lawrence was named with A. D. Lawrence in the bail piece.

ASPIRANTS IN NEXT PRIMARY ALREADY BUSY

Blaine Bixler And George Reichle Expected To Be Candidates For Sheriff.

With the echoes of the general election last Tuesday still rebounding through vale and valley in the shadow of the South Mountains, political gossip has already become rife concerning the county offices to be filled in the general election next fall.

For the nomination for sheriff to succeed Sheriff Shearer, whose term expires with the end of next year, there are already practically two assured candidates, one in each old party, although neither has made definite announcement publicly.

They are George Reichle, Baltimore street butcher, who is being urged by his friends to announce himself as a candidate for the democratic nomination, and Blaine Bixler, of Two Taverns, now deputy sheriff, who is being frequently spoken of as a candidate for the republican nomination. Both view the plans with favor and approval, it is understood, and some early announcements will probably be forthcoming.

Constable May Run
The name of Walter Craumer, Abbottstown automobile dealer, is also being mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination for sheriff. Craumer was a candidate for the same office twice in past democratic primaries but each time failed by narrow margins to win the coveted nomination of his party.

George Aughinbaugh, York street, also has his eyes on the sheriff's job, it is understood, although he has not made a positive declaration that he would be in the running for the republican nomination at the primary next fall. Aughinbaugh, now high constable of Gettysburg, and active, with state police, in rounding up alleged wrong-doers in Gettysburg and Adams county, is taken as evidence that he intends to make a bid for the position now held by Sheriff Shearer.

At last four prospective candidates have been mentioned for the position as county treasurer, now held by Harry J. Troxell, democrat. Two of the reputed aspirants are Clarence Smith, republican, who was defeated three years ago by Mr. Troxell, and J. Clayton Hoke, West High street, republican, who, it is understood, has cast longing eyes in the direction of the treasurership since his defeat by Smith for the nomination in 1924.

D. A. R. Will Help To Restore Old Home Of Washington's Sister

The Gettysburg chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, voted Saturday, at their regular November meeting, to take an active part in the restoration of Kenmore, the beautiful home of "Betty Lewis," sister of George Washington, located at Fredericksburg, Virginia. Washington surveyed the grounds, helped plan the house, planted many of the trees and designed the ceilings and mantle pieces. In 1924 this property was purchased by the Betty Washington Lewis chapter of D. A. R. of Fredericksburg with the intention of having it restored and furnished as Mt. Vernon has been restored.

The local chapter will assist Mrs. H. D. Sheppard, of Hanover, in giving a bridge party. Friday, November 26, the proceeds of which are to be given to Kenmore. Mrs. Walter H. O'Neal, who served many years as regent of the Gettysburg chapter, has given a beautiful steel engraving of the Washington family as her gift toward the refurbishing of the old mansion.

HAD SLIGHT FIRE

The Gettysburg Fire Department was called out Sunday evening to extinguish a fire in the chimney of the home of George Heagey, Steinwehr avenue. The blaze was put out without material damage.

DR. WAGNER DEPLORES TREND TOWARD MATERIAL THINGS IN SERMON AT COLLEGE LUTHERAN

Striking at the propensity of people to place more value in the material things of life than in the spiritual, or preference for the "things seen" to the "things unseen," the Rev. Dr. A. E. Wagner, pastor of the College Lutheran church, in his sermon Sunday morning, on "Life's Evaluation," pointed out the men whose lives have been epochmaking, and whose influences are felt today, although many of them have been dead for centuries.

Doctor Wagner took as the text of his discourse Luke 12:15; "For a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

Doctor Wagner said in part: "If there was need of the affirmation of this truth when Christ was on earth there is more need for its proclamation today. Men have always been lured by things material—the 'seen things'—but never have things material so gripped the attention, the lust and the worship of the world as today.

Materialism Grows
"Materialism as a system of philosophy thought is on the wane, but materialism as an appealing force in human thought and aspiration is increasing in geometrical progression. Men are bringing to its altar the dearest and deepest interest of life. No (Continued on Second Page)

HIGHWAY FILM TO ATTRACT MANY JOHN HOUCK DIES AT HEIDELSBURG

Many Interested in Picture Part of Which Was Taken Here; First Showing at 6:30.

"While we are only in a position to entertain our members as guests at the presentation of the six-reel film 'Pennsylvania' tonight at the Majestic Theatre, it is distinctly understood that the picture is of such a type as will appeal to the ladies too," stated John W. Ostrom, secretary of the Gettysburg Motor Club.

"Indications are that there will be a big percentage of our members attend the show. And a real treat is in store for them they can be assured."

The interest in the picture "Pennsylvania" manifested around Gettysburg and Adams county is consistent with the interest the film is creating all over the state.

Pennsylvania has many attractions to offer a visitor as well as Pennsylvanians and the film is expected to go a long way in selling the Keystone State to her populace.

Various slogans have been introduced in the work of publicizing the Quaker State but two stand out prominently above all the rest: "Pennsylvania's Many Matchless Miles of Scenic Splendor" and "Pennsylvania—not a route but a destination."

The highway department this year has issued almost a quarter of a million guide books of the state besides their detour maps in lots of about 6000 a week or more. The state publicity bureau has distributed over 100,000 each of two guide books on the state.

Everywhere is the intention evidenced of selling Pennsylvania's roads, its scenery and its historical places to Pennsylvania motorists as well as motorists from all over the country.

The first showing of the picture will be at 6:30 this evening and the second about 8:15 o'clock.

DICKINSON BOWS TO BULLETS IN ANNUAL BATTLE

Gettysburg Takes Another Game From Rivals by Score Of 20 To 7, Saturday.

To the victor belong the spoils, but to the vanquished goes a good bit of respect or so it is with Dickinson after the tilt with Gettysburg College at the Island Park at Harrisburg on Saturday. The Lutheran Bullets took off the scoring honors against the fighting Methodists, running up a nice score of 20 to 7, but the game of battle was far more equal than the points would indicate.

Entering a battle royal with the odds so heavily against them that little money was being wagered and that at long odds, the Red and White warriors startled the 8000 rooters who witness this game year after year with what is almost a Christian devotion, by starting an attack that netted them six first downs in quick succession. But the breaks of the game, and there were many breaks, were all in favor of the Bullets.

Bream Stars
There was Dickinson with the ball within fifteen yards of the goal line when the first of the breaks started and it was "Junie" Bream, stocky end for Gettysburg, playing his first and last year of college football, who made a name for himself when he stopped the march to the goal line and incidentally scored the first touchdown.

Playing wide, "Junie" eluded the defense men which Dickinson sent out to protect Sweeley from being hurried in a forward pass. He rushed in and leaping into the air pulled down the pass and without much trouble dashed 85 yards to the goal line. Spangler added the extra point.

Within a few minutes after the kickoff, Kurz, who had been playing a roving center game, snatched a second pass out of the air and made 36 yards for the second touchdown of the game.

Their fighting blood up, Dickinson battled throughout the next two quarters for all that they were worth, breaking through the line of scrimmage frequently, nailing the runner time after time back to the line. But the Bullets were just as adamant and succeeded nobly in holding the fighting red men powerless. Here is where "Big John" Miller showed his power. Playing a defensive game that was pretty to see, "Jawn" broke through time after time and nailed the runner from behind in an emphatic if not a too gentle manner.

Spangler Makes Pretty Run
It was not until the fourth quarter that any real football was displayed and in that period both teams settled (Continued on Third Page)

11 Injured, 3 Seriously, In Auto Accidents Over Week-End in This County

Five Women Injured When Machines Crash at Peach Orchard On Saturday.

Five women were hurt, none of them seriously, when two automobiles crashed at the intersection of the Emmitsburg road and the Wheatfield road at the Peach Orchard, Saturday evening.

One of the women, Miss Mae Biddle, home economics specialist in the Atlantic City High School, suffered severe cuts about the head and on the right leg, with numerous minor cuts and bruises over her body. She was admitted to the Warner Hospital, and will be confined to bed for several weeks.

With Miss Biddle, a daughter of Mrs. Emma Biddle, Water street, were Miss Olive Mellon, a Miss Sheppard, both teachers in the Atlantic City High School, and Mrs. James Jardine, also of Atlantic City. All suffered minor cuts and bruises, except Mrs. Jardine, three of whose ribs were broken.

A fifth woman, occupant of the other car in the collision, suffered a cut on her nose which required several stitches to close.

Both Cars Damaged
The Atlantic City teachers and Mr. and Mrs. Jardine came to Gettysburg Friday evening to visit Miss Biddle's mother, and were touring the battlefield when the accident occurred. Miss Mellon, owner and driver of the sedan in which the women were riding, was almost across the Emmitsburg road on the Wheatfield road when a car, traveling south on the Emmitsburg road, struck the rear of the machine driven by the Atlantic City teacher.

George M. Parson, an attorney of Schuylkill Haven, was driving the other car. With him were P. J. Seeser, also of Schuylkill Haven, and a woman, whose name was not learned. They were en route to Maryland to visit a sick relative.

The sedan, driven by Miss Mellon, was shoved 20 feet by the impact, but remained upright. Both cars were badly damaged in the crash and had to be towed away from the scene of the accident. They were taken to the C. W. Epley Machine Shop, South Washington street, for repairs.

Boy's Skull Fractured When Hit By Machine

Edward Shields, 9, Chambersburg street, suffered a fractured skull when run down by an automobile on Chambersburg street, late Sunday afternoon. The boy was taken to the Warner Hospital, where today his condition was reported to be serious, but not critical.

The boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shields, had been playing with two other children in front of the Shields home. Without looking, Edward started to run across the street, directly in the path of an automobile driven by Andrew R. Jackson, Baltimore, according to state police, who investigated the accident.

Jackson endeavored to avoid hitting the boy by swinging his car from the direction in which it was traveling, but the boy, state police said, ran directly in the path of the oncoming car.

Jackson stopped almost immediately after hitting the Shields lad, and volunteered to take the boy to a hospital. The injured lad was taken to the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

Jackson reported the accident to the state police who released him on his own recognizance to await the outcome of the boy's injuries.

URGES PARENTS TO VISIT SCHOOLS

To acquaint the public with the work and needs of the schools, American Education Week is being celebrated in the United States this week. No special program of exercises has been arranged for Gettysburg schools, but Lloyd Keefe, superintendent, today urged all parents of school children to visit the local schools sometime during the week.

With a thought to American Education Week, plans have been made to dedicate Gettysburg's new $100,000 high school, Friday evening. Exercises, to which the public is invited, will be held in the auditorium of the new building.

Hampton Man Near Death After Triple Crash Near New Oxford; Woman Badly Hurt.

Two persons suffered fractured skulls and each is in a serious condition at the West Side sanitarium, York, as a result of an automobile accident on the Lincoln Highway, between New Oxford and Cross Keys, at 6:45 o'clock, Sunday evening.

Albert Thomas, aged about 50, Reading township, near Hampton, and Mrs. John Free, of York, suffered fractured skulls in the crash in which four automobiles figured. Thomas, according to information received at the sanitarium this afternoon, has been unconscious since his admission, but Mrs. Free has regained consciousness on several occasions.

Of the two, Thomas' condition is the more critical, and his relatives were summoned to his bedside during the night. His death was expected momentarily, but he still clung to life by a slender thread today, although hospital authorities would not venture a guess as to how long he might live.

Cars Sideswiped
Thomas was riding with John Brashears, of New Oxford, in the latter's light coupe, proceeding west on the Lincoln Highway. A light touring car, driven by Reuben C. Fogle, York, was traveling in the opposite direction, and as the two cars were passing each other they sideswiped with considerable force.

The glancing blow threw Brashears' machine directly in the path of the light sedan, driven by John Free. Before the three cars, which figured in the accident, came to a full stop, another machine, traveling east on the Lincoln Highway, struck one of the cars in the original crash. The fourth car was only slightly damaged and proceeded without stopping to investigate.

Passing motorists took Thomas and Mrs. Free to the West Side sanitarium.

Condition Is Serious
When physicians at the hospital recognized the seriousness of Thomas' injuries, his brother and sister, Newton and Clara Thomas, both of New Oxford, were called to the hospital. They remained with him until early this morning when they returned to their home. They were taken to York by Clayton F. Smith, of New Oxford.

Brashears, Fogle and Free suffered numerous cuts and bruises. The automobiles of Brashears and Free were badly damaged and that of Fogle was slightly wrecked. Sheely's garage, New Oxford, took charge of the Fogle and Free cars, while Slaybaugh and Stough towed in the wrecked Brashears' machine.

Patrolman Reese, of the local substitution of the state highway motor patrol, was called to the scene of the accident, but was unable to interview any of the persons involved.

We would suggest to those students who are planning to give us a nice friendly hazing that they refrain from doing so even though it would meet with popular approval. We have just been informed of their plans and for their benefit we shall continue to go about our daily life as we have been accustomed to go—if they see fit to go ahead as they plan then that is up to them. Of course some one will have to pay in the end and we feel that they will have to pay and pay and pay. And after all, what good would it do. We are hopeless, beyond all possibility of reform, though we pride ourselves on being a good sport. We always did believe in talking a matter over before taking any rash and quick steps and our door is always open to anyone who wishes to talk matters over.

The interesting part of the whole plot is those people who are behind the move. Perhaps the public would be interested in knowing those who appeal to force in order to get that which they want. There was a time when might was right but since then we have become more civilized.

The first half of the first semester has passed and the grades are in. As far as we are able to find out the grades of A are few and far between. In one class, in which there are some thirty pupils, only four received a passing grade. This brings up a question in which we are very much interested.—If a student fails is it the student's fault or the fault of the professor? At present we are undecided. Yet, it does seem to us that if we were a professor we would be ashamed to turn in ninety per cent failures. Surely there would be something wrong either with the professor or with his methods of teaching.

We would suggest that the college authorities look up the records of those students who receive "F's" and then find out why so many "F's" are given by certain professors. We sincerely doubt if Passenger Train Crashes Into Freight, When Switch Is Thrown by Mistake.

(By Associated Press.)

Hagerstown, Nov. 8.—Twelve persons were injured at 8:30 o'clock this morning when passenger train No. 1 on the Western Maryland railroad from Baltimore to Hagerstown ran into an open switch at Thurmont, Md., and crashed into the rear of a freight train on a siding.

Samuel Strate and George W. Ross, Baltimore, mail clerks, were the most seriously injured.

The injured passengers received cuts and bruises, but none was seriously injured. All were residents of Baltimore or towns along the line.

The passenger train was running at high speed when it crashed into the engine of the freight train that had taken a siding, badly damaging both locomotive and the mail car next to the passenger engine. According to a report given out by officials the signal had been set for a clear track for the passenger train, but becoming confused a few seconds before the train approached, a brakeman, in mistake, threw the switch.

ed aspirants for the job of holding the county's purse strings are Frank Slonaker, Jr., Breckenridge street, and William Weaver, West Middle street. More interest locally is expected to develop before the next primary election than prevailed during the last primary and general election campaigns because of the local and lucrative county offices to be filled next year.

The democrats now have complete control of these county offices, with the exception of Sheriff Shealer, who won in a contested election over G. D. Morrison, democratic nominee, by a few votes when absentee voters ballots were held to be legal by the court. The democratic success locally in the election last week has given democratic leaders renewed courage and inspiration to go into the next campaign with confidence and assurances of success in continuing their control of county affairs.

Many Jobs To Be Filled

However, political wisecracks point out that both old parties will have to do considerable fence building if they hope to wipe out old grudges and go into the next campaign, each with a united front.

The primary for next year's election will be held in September, with the general election the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

Offices to be filled beside county treasurer and sheriff are commissioners, register and recorder, prothonotary, clerk of the courts, school directors, road supervisors, councilmen, auditors in certain districts, constables and justices of the peace.

300 BELIEVED DEAD

(By Associated Press.)

Manila, Nov. 8.—The estimated number of dead in Southern Luzon as a result of Saturday's typhoon, tidal wave and flood reached 300 today. Incomplete reports indicate the property damage will run into millions of dollars. Telegraph wires still are down and full extent of the destruction and dead are not yet known.

it is the fault of the students in some cases.

Maryland beat Yale. How did it happen? That makes another game that we have predicted wrong. Can we help it if Tad Jones lets the entire first string players sit on the bench while the scrubs are beaten? Show us one man that can predict correctly a game that is played that way?

If there is anything this column does like it is a good full-grown fire. Imagine our disappointment last evening when the fire whistle blew and the engines snorted out of the fire house and put out a good prospective fire. We were all set to enjoy the sight of at least two good houses consumed by beautiful red flames. Fires are so romantic.

The Gettysburg Fire Company is just too good. As a rule, the usual volunteer fire companies are supposedly very poor and very slow. Gettysburg must have bigger and better fires in the future. If the present firemen insist on being so efficient we would suggest that a new company be formed. As long as we have been here there has not been a good first class fire that has not been put out before it became enjoyable to the many spectators.

Gettysburg won the Dickinson game. We would advise that no one should ask too many questions concerning the game. Above all don't ask Mr. William Wood. Mr. Wood seems to have a few ideas all of his own as to the game on Saturday. We heard the game over the radio. Try as hard as we could we couldn't figure out what it was all about. Half of the time we thought it was the New York stock report and the other half it sounded as if it were the Podunkus High School game. So there you are. We wanted to attend in person but the price was prohibitive.

"Against such worship of the physical, whether it be in the shape of wealth, or the application of knowledge to material ends or the prostitution of the body to animal supremacy, he who spoke as man never spoke, who saw clearly and thought things through, uttered his solemn protest: 'A man's life does not consist in the material things which he possesses.'"

"In this protest the Teacher is striking at a fundamental mistake of human judgment. The well nigh universal heresy of the human mind has been its false evaluation of the material.

"At another time the Teacher suggests if a man should get all he wants and more, even 'the whole world', it would not be an achievement desirable, but a most fatal disaster. 'The dignity, the nobility, the power of man is not in the things which he possesses, but in the truth that possesses him. What is the order of moral development? It is this. Man seeks the truth, then he finds it, then he possesses it (using it as a working force), then he is possessed by it and then becomes an invincible power.

Moses Reluctant

"Moses accepted his great commission with great hesitance and reluctance, but having accepted it, having become obedient to God, his soul becomes so absorbed in its work that he could say to the Almighty: 'Rather would I have my name blotted from the book of life' than that I should abandon my divinely appointed task. 'Where a great mind becomes possessed by a great truth then the impossible becomes possible. Cromwell entered parliament, 'the farmer from Huntingdon,' unschooled in politics, untrained in statesmanship, but as his mind became possessed of the great truth of the rights of the people as against the 'divine right' of kings, he assumed and exercised that dominance of authority which dissolved and revoked parliament at will and finally made him both 'dictator' and 'protector' of a mighty empire.

"Who are the men that have been back of human progress, whose lives have formed the epochs of the world's advancement?

"In every case they have been men possessed of some great truth which through them uttered its message.

"Doctor Watson has suggested that the number is not large—you can enumerate on six fingers: 'Homer, the man who opened to the world the volume of letters; Moses, the man who gave to the world the 'ten words' of the law, laying the foundations of jurisprudence for subsequent ages; Socrates, who asked the great questions of the soul and answered some of them; Columbus, who discovered a new continent and doubled the habitations of the race; Copernicus, who mapped the skies and like David read the glory of God in the flaming firmament; Martin Luther, whose soul fired with the doctrine of the right of individual judgment and the supremacy

BOY, 16, FATALLY SHOOTS BROTHER WITH OLD GUN

Shell Explodes When Youth "Breaks" Gun; Were Shooting at Leaves.

While "breaking" a shot gun in a woods on the farm of their father, David Bucher, in Warrington township, near Dillsburg, Joseph Bucher, 16 years, shot and instantly killed his 13-year-old brother, Russel S., at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Dr. L. U. Zech, coroner of York county, was notified of the shooting and immediately went to the Bucher farm. After questioning Joseph and neighbors for some time the coroner decided that the shooting was accidental and freed Joseph of all blame.

The gun which figured in the fatal shooting was an old, rusty and broken firearm and had been repaired by the boys with wire. The parents knew that there was a broken gun at the farmhouse but were ignorant of the fact that the boys had repaired it.

Shot At Leaves On Tree

Early Sunday morning the father and Joseph went to visit neighbors. While they were absent from the house, Russell and another brother, David, aged 11 years, took the gun and went into the woods. Each of the boys took a shot at the leaves in the tree when Joseph, who had returned to the house in the meantime, joined them. He was breaking the barrel when the shell exploded.

Russel screamed, held his right side, where a hole two and one-half inches in diameter was torn, and fell to the ground. Blood poured from the wound. Death was almost instantaneous.

Mrs. Bucher had heard the first two shots fired but paid little attention to the shooting. The father heard the fatal shot fired and hurried to the wood, 300 feet from the house, where he found David and Joseph kneeling besides the lifeless form of their brother.

Lloyd Walton, Mr. Bucher's son-in-law, who was visiting at the Bucher home Sunday, ran with Mr. Bucher and another of his children, Julia, to the scene of the shooting. The dead boy was carried to the farmhouse and Dr. Bruce Hetrick, Wellsville, was summoned. He pronounced the boy dead and notified Coroner Zech.

Right Arm Blown Off

Coroner Zech in examining the other brother, who made up the trio, learned that Joseph, upon joining his brothers, upon his return from a visit to a neighbor with his father, said, "Let me see the gun." Taking it, he proceeded to "break" it across his knee, when it discharged.

The shells were secured by Joseph at the home of Clyde Deardorff, a brother-in-law, at Wellsville, where he has been living for some time. He was going to use them on a hunting trip, he said.

David's right arm was blown off and the shot penetrated his right side, three inches below the arm pit, tearing a hole two and one-half inches in diameter in his side. The lungs and other organs in that part of the body were badly torn, the coroner's examination revealed.

The father, suffering from shock as the result of the shooting of his son, broke the gun into bits with large rocks. He told the coroner that he had attempted to prevent just such an occurrence by never keeping a gun around the house. He little expected, he said, that the gun which figured in the killing could ever be used, although repaired.

The dead boy was one of a family of eleven. His survivors besides his parents are the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Lloyd Walton, York; Mrs. Harry Craul, Dover, R. D. 2; Mrs. Paul Linebaugh, Dover R. D. 4; Mrs. Clyde Deardorff, Wellsville; Mrs. Walter Knaub, Manchester; Lydia, Mildred, Joseph, Wayne and David, at home.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

He is alleged to have stolen an overcoat and cap at the home of George R. Weikert, Straban township, September 6. Williams was indicted by the grand jury during the afternoon.

J. H. Scott was named foreman of the grand jury, after several constable returns were made in court.

Herbert Motter and George Rodkey, convicted of larceny, in connection with the theft of corn, were before court for sentence this afternoon, but William Hersh, attorney for the Littlestown Savings Institution, objected to sentence, when the court was informed that the defendants had not made full restitution of the corn taken as made in representations to the court. Judge McPherson said he would dispose of the case on Saturday.

How Do You Impress Your Friends?

Somebody said the other day, "There's a man walking across the street now who always gives me something new to think about. He always says something, even in a few minutes' talk which gives me a new slant on a helpful phase of this life."

There are other men, and a few of them can be found in Adams county of whom the opposite is more true. Not only is their conversation so commonplace, but often we leave them with foreboding for the future, or with less confidence in our fellowmen.

The sunny sort, with no clearer view of the future but with a faith which brings goodness to pass, leave a residuum of uplift and happiness which helps us meet life with more of a smile. A bit of information, a suggestion on the bright side, a pickout out of the good points a situation under discussion, accomplishes the result. How do you impress people?

Do you leave them with a firmer faith in mankind and a brighter outlook on life, or are you a depressing factor? The church builds faith and turns the dark clouds inside out.

Leave a trail of happiness and smiles behind you. Your work will go better; Your business will increase.

Out of the Past

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Editor of the Village Record says: "Let the great canal go on. Prosperity attend it. But we must look to our local interests. Chester and Lancaster must not see the carrying trade leave them without an effort to preserve it. A railroad must and shall be made from the Susquehanna through these counties to Philadelphia. That it will be extended west through York, Adams, Franklin and so on, we cannot doubt. But of all this hereafter."

Married.—On Thursday last, by the Rev. D. McConaughy, John Adair, of Indiana county, to Miss Maria McCleary, daughter of James McCleary, of Liberty township, in this county.

Religion.—Religion consists not so much in the understanding of theology as in the practice of piety. It is to no purpose to talk like Christians and live like infidels.

There were but seven papers published in the United States in 1750; in 1810, there were 359 (including 25 published daily) which circulated 22,200,000 copies in the year. In 1823 they have increased to the number of 538.—The number of copies circulated in the year by these journals, it is calculated, exceeds thirty millions. The whole of continental Europe containing 160 millions of inhabitants does not support half the number of journals which exist in the United States.

Dentistry.—(Advertisement.) J. Walker will stop at James Gourley's in Gettysburg on the 13th of November, inst., and remain one week—where he will attend to the different operations in the line of his profession.

N. B. All orders punctually attended to. Those living at a distance, and wish J. W. to call at their houses, will send a line to the postoffice, Gettysburg.

Russia.—The coronation of the Emperor Nicholas took place on the third of September. The scene, as usual on such occasions, was one of much show, and in the evening a general illumination took place.

Tract Society.—A meeting of the members of the "Gettysburg Tract Society" will be held at the Rev. D. McConaughy's church, on next Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A SCHOOL

RECENTLY I visited a school where something like 700 boys attend. It is located in a quaint, old New England town. I passed by houses in that town that were built very early in the seventeenth century. Great trees lined the winding streets.

Daniel Webster attended this school. Also Robert T. Lincoln, and a host of notable men who have helped to make America great. Today, as in former years, the sons of noted men attend, and in the years to come these sons and the sons of men who have never been notable will themselves become notable.

I saw the son of the greatest soldier of the American World War Army there, the son of a United States Senator, and so on. But these facts meant nothing to the body of boys gathered there for work and study. At this school it is the boy and what he does that counts. The pedigree may be short or long—no matter. If he doesn't make good, he is asked to go back home.

I noted a wonderful American, democratic spirit everywhere. I met the Head Master and he impressed me as a big boy. I felt that every boy there would be well cared for. The fine gymnasium was given by a noted business man who was once a boy at that school. A sound mind in a healthy body is emphasized there.

Boys at this school seemed to me to take great pride in the institution and to be very happy of the opportunity they had before them.

So high is the school's standard that the very smallest percentage of boys fail to gain admission, after graduation, to the great Colleges and Universities of the East such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Brown.

The secret, I learned, was found in the fact that thoroughness was paramount and that each boy was put on his honor as a student. One boy told me that the school had no rules—until one was broken!

I felt that the greatest thing a boy could get out of this splendid school was the consciousness that he had a responsibility of a very high order in carrying out this opportunity of being placed upon his own honor.

Ex-President Van Buren spent several days recently with Mr. Blair, late of the Washington Globe, on a fishing excursion among the Thousand Islands in the Niagara River. The ex-President during a day's trolling took the largest number of fish of any of the crowd. He is an inveterate angler, and spends a great deal of his time on the water.

A Costly Building.—The proposed enlargement of the capitol at Washington, a correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says, will cost five millions of dollars. The marble and setting for the exterior must cost, at least, twelve thousand dollars, and that for the interior as much more. The whole present appropriation for the work is only one hundred thousand dollars.

A new magazine has recently been commenced in London, made up exclusively from contributions from American authors, Webster, Longfellow, Prescott, Bryant, Emerson, Dana, Willis, Morris, Conrad, Mrs. Sigourney, etc., and other American writers of distinction appear in the first number, which takes well with the English press. "Who reads an American book?"

For Liberia.—On Tuesday last, there passed through Washington, on their way to Baltimore, more than half a hundred men, women and children of color, accompanied by twelve white overseers and two four-horse wagons. These people were the property of Mrs. Margaret Miller, of Culpepper, Virginia, who recently manumitted them, on condition of their emigration to Liberia. They were on their way to Baltimore whence they were to sail for Liberia under the auspices of the Colonization Society, and by their cheerfulness and gaiety showed how well they were pleased with their change of circumstances and the prospects which await them.

BIG BOY GENE

But one remembered big boy Gene! Some thirty years ago, a lad, Crippled, and pale and, oh, so sad, Past all men's skill to help, intent On learning, begged that he be sent To school that he might share the joys Life lavishes on healthy boys.

The first day big boy Gene looked out And saw the wheel chair with the lad, So pale, so helpless and so sad, It troubled him. He quit the throng And said: "I'll carry you, I'm strong."

On the 29th ult., by Rev. Jacob Ziebler, Obed M. Beard and Miss Louisa Little, both of Gettysburg.

For four years never came a day But when arrived that cripple's chair, The big boy Gene was waiting there. No other ever thought to ask For what was Gene's self chosen task, And to the end of school he bore That sad, pale friend from floor to floor.

The twisted frame was called to rest, And time makes dim the passing scene, But one remembered the big boy Gene.

"I tell this story now," wrote he, "That it may live in memory." And I repeat it, best I can, Because I know big Gene, the man.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

"Heigh, ho, where shall I go?" cried Little Jack Rabbit, as he hopped along, his knapsack bouncing up and down on his back and his red-striped candy cane swinging from his left paw.

"Follow me," answered a silvery voice. But the little bunny could see no one. "Dear me," he thought. "Who is advising me to follow him?" and again he looked here and there and everywhere. Still, there was no one in sight.

Bending over the Bubbling Brook, he peeped among the water weeds, when again the same silvery voice whispered: "Follow me!"

"Oh, now I know who's calling," laughed the bunny boy, and he hopped along the bank to follow this merry little stream. The day was chilly and Mr. North Wind was sweeping the stubble fields and shaking the leafless branches of the forest. As he neared the Old Stone Fence that separated the Sunny Meadow and the Pleasant Pasture he saw Chippy Chipmunk in his striped fur coat.

"Getting colder every minute," shouted the bunny boy.

"I don't care if the wind does blow And covers the ground with a coat of snow," answered the little chipmunk in poetry, just like William Shakespeare. "I've made a cosy bed deep down under the stone fence. I should worry. I've spent half the summer storing away a lot of acorns and nuts. There'll be enough to spare for my winter table until Mistress Spring comes tripping over the meadow."

"You're a sensible person," observed the bunny boy, twinkling his pink nose to catch, if possible, the scent of Danny Fox's old fur coat. "When do you go into your winter quarters?"

"Almost any minute. The first cold snap will make me scurry to shelter," answered the little chipmunk.

"Maybe you'll come out some nice warm day this winter," suggested the little bunny, almost wistfully, feeling a bit lonely at the thought of losing his cheerful little friend.

"Of course I shall," answered Chippy Chipmunk.

"Tis au revoir, but not goodbye, So keep your little pink eyes dry. Don't grieve for me, for I shall be As comfortable as I can be."

Then away went the little rabbit to follow the Bubbling Brook ere that merry little stream put on its icy overcoat for the winter. By and by the little rabbit reached the Pleasant Pasture where beside his doorstep just in front of a hole five feet down in the

HEMORRHOIDS GO

Piles Disappear Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from People's Drug Store today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.—adv.

HIGHER THAN WOOLWORTH BUILDING

The Yearly Sales of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Woolworth Building in New York City, which towers 792 feet above the street, is our highest building.

If all the bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound sold in one year could be placed end to end, they would make a column as high as the Woolworth Building. And there would be enough left over to extend from Lynn, Massachusetts to Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have lots of work to do and I am not very strong, but I was getting worse all the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to lose my appetite completely at certain times, but I feel very well since I began taking this medicine. I think so much of it that I would go before a notary and swear to its merits. You could step into my home any time and you will find a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK M. CASEY, 220 South 11th Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y.

WILLIAM F. RUSSELL

Mme. Alexandra Kollantay, Soviet Ambassador to Mexico, was denied admission into the United States. Sir Thomas Beecham, famed British opera conductor, called upon by musicians to come to America because the radio had no music in England. John W. Langley, former representative from Kentucky, now serving a term for a Prohibition violation, was "vindicated" when his wife was elected to his seat. William Fletcher Russell was named to succeed his father as dean of Columbia University.

WITNESSES TELL OF SEEING RECTOR

One Remembers Seeing Rev. Hall With Mrs. Mills in New York City.

(By Associated Press.)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 8.—Lee Russell Gildersleeve, of Jersey City, was the first witness called today at the resumption of the Hall-Mills murder trial. He testified he saw the late Rev. Edward W. Hall in New York City in 1921 with Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, choir singer in his church.

The witness said this was more than a year before the minister and Mrs. Mills were found slain on a farm near New Brunswick. Gildersleeve, once a lay reader in Mr. Hall's church, was called by the state in an effort to reinforce its previous testimony to show that the love affair between Hall and his choir singer was known long before the double slaying and that therefore Mrs. Hall, who is one of the three defendants, must have known of the affair herself.

"No question" was the response of defense attorney when he was given over for cross examination.

Robert Ehrling, second witness today and twenty-fifth in the case, testified he saw Mrs. Gibson in De Russsey's lane on the night of the killing.

The state was overruled when it attempted to defend Ehrling's refusal to give the name of a woman who was with him in the lane that night. Ehrling said the woman was now married and the mother of two children. Under the judge's ruling he gave her maiden name, but was sustained when he refused to say what her married name now is.

Ehrling's testimony was regarded as important as it corroborated to some extent the story Mrs. Gibson is expected to tell.

Jersey City, Nov. 8.—Four specialists today began an examination of Mrs. Jane Gibson, a state witness in the Hall-Mills case, who was suddenly removed from the Somerset county hospital to the Jersey City hospital by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson.

After examining the woman the physicians issued a statement saying that in their opinion Mrs. Gibson would be "confined to the hospital at least two weeks."
